

Pornpimon Prasongporn

Lecturer, Srinakharinwirot University

Dr. Prasongporn P. earned her B.A., M.A. in English Language Teaching and hold Ph.D in Curriculum and Instruction. She was granted as a Rotary Scholar in 1995 to study English Language Teaching at Southern Connecticut State University and the University of Wisconsin U.S.A.

Dr. Prasongporn P. has over thirty-fives' years' experience as an EFL teacher in middle and high schools in Thailand. She is currently a lecture of Curriculum and Instruction Department (English Language Teaching) for Faculty of Education, Srinakharinwirot University, Bangkok, Thailand. She has taught B.A. and M.A. courses in English and English Language Teaching.

Previously, she was Head of ELT Research and Development for English Language Institute, Office of the Basic Education Commission, Ministry of Education where she was responsible for the Basic Education Core Curriculum development. She was one who designed the networking among English Program schools in Thailand. By now, she has lectured and run teacher trainings on topics related to the theory and practice of effective language teaching and learning.